Arigatou International develops and sustains unique multi-stakeholder initiatives designed to ensure that all children are treated with dignity and respect, have the opportunity to freely pursue their full human potential, and have their rights respected.

PURPOSE AND OBJECTIVES

participate in activities conducted by Arigatou International.

- Raises awareness of what constitutes child abuse, helps prevent any potential form of child abuse, and advances a response mechanism that can be implemented should child abuse occur.
- Establishes a code of conduct to ensure that all children taking part in activities led by Arigatou International are protected from all forms of violence, abuse, neglect, and exploitation as established by CRC articles 19, 32-36, and 38 (Table 1).

GUIDING PRINCIPLES

- In accordance with article 2 of the CRC, Arigatou International is committed to treating all children with dignity and respect, irrespective of age, sex, gender, sexual orientation, nationality, ethnic origin, religious or political beliefs, socio-economic or cultural background, history of conflict with the law, or any other aspect of their background or identity, and is committed to protecting them from any form of violence, abuse, and/or discrimination.
- Arigatou International recognises that children may face diverse risks related to their safety and protection. Therefore, Arigatou International always prioritizes the best interest of the child in all actions and programmes concerning children, as defined in article 3 of the CRC. This includes a commitment to not cause harm.
- Arigatou International also fully adheres to the principle that all children have the right to express their opinions and to have their views taken seriously and given due weight, in accordance with article 12 of the CRC.
- Arigatou International commits to the safety and wellbeing of all children. We recognize that we have particular responsibilities towards children who take part in the organisation's programmes, campaigns, and activities. Arigatou International has developed a child-friendly version of this document, including training and learning materials, to inform and help children understand this policy, its safeguarding commitments, and the means through which they can report policy breaches.
- Arigatou International has a zero-tolerance policy regarding child abuse, defined as any form of physical, mental, emotional, or sexual mistreatment or lack of care that results in actual or potential harm to the child's physical, psychological, or emotional health, development, dignity, or wellbeing in the context of a relationship of responsibility, trust, or power. Inequality, exclusion, and discrimination will be challenged and will not be tolerated. We maintain confidentiality and do not disclose the personal details of those reporting or raising concerns unless it is absolutely necessary to ensure that the child is protected.
- When working with other organisations, Arigatou International will implement a screening process before entering into a partnership or collaboration in order to ensure that all partner organisations have a Child Safeguarding Policy in place that meets the minimum standards of safeguarding for children. If an organisation does not have an adequate policy in place, they will be invited to adopt Arigatou International's Child Safeguarding Policy and Code of Conduct.

RECRUITMENT POLICY

This Child Safeguarding Policy and Code of Conduct will be used by the organisation as guidelines for recruitment and training and included in all partnership agreements and Memoranda of Understanding.

All Terms of Reference and Contract Agreements must contain a generic statement about Arigatou International's commitment to child safeguarding. All recruitment procedures must be based on a careful consideration of each job description and the level of contact with children. Recruitment procedures should include pre-selection, selection, and post-selection considerations to ensure that as many safeguards as possible are in place (Appendix 5).

ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

Arigatou International is rigorously vigilant with regards to protecting children and preventing the ill-treatment or the violation of the physical or psychological integrity of the children placed under its responsibility. Anybody working for and with children has a moral and legal imperative to respect and apply this Child Safeguarding Policy and Code of Conduct.

In particular, it is the responsibility of Management to ensure that all Arigatou International staff, associates, and all individuals who participate in our programmes and who come in contact with children are acquainted with this Child Safeguarding Policy and Code of Conduct and conduct themselves accordingly.

Arigatou International headquarters in Tokyo is responsible for overseeing the implementation of the organisation's Child Safeguarding Policy and Code of Conduct.

Each Arigatou International office (Tokyo, Geneva, Nairobi, and New York) is responsible for ensuring the effective implementation and monitoring of the Child Safeguarding Policy and Code of Conduct and is also responsible for providing a safe and child-friendly space for all children participating in any of the organisation's programmes and activities (Appendix 7).

All staff must comply with this Child Safeguarding Policy and Code of Conduct. Should concerns arise regarding possible child abuse, staff must immediately bring the concern to the attention of their supervisor and the local Child Safeguarding Focal Point and work together to ensure that internal reporting is implemented in line with the defined procedures. A flowchart for raising a concern is presented in the Annex to help identify how concerns and reports should be managed.

While recognizing the autonomy of its partner organisations, Arigatou International expects that all partners and collaborators will respect children's rights and endorse the principles and guidelines described in this Child Safeguarding Policy and Code of Conduct. It is expected that all Arigatou International partners and associates, including networks such as the GNRC, either agree to comply with Arigatou International's Child Safeguarding Policy and Code of Conduct or with their own Policy and Code of Conduct, provided that they are consistent with those of Arigatou International. When selecting partners, consideration should be made regarding potential partners' suitability and track record of working with children.

RISK MANAGEMENT

The principles and actions that drive Arigatou International's work are geared towards promoting child safeguarding by nurturing values of trust, respect and mutual understanding, empathy, and individual and collective responsibility.

A safe and protective space must be established to prevent any act of abuse against children or among children themselves during the activities conducted by Arigatou International. Should concerns arise regarding possible abuse, these must be immediately reported to the Child Safeguarding Focal Point or to the designated staff member in order to ensure that appropriate action is taken by Management.

As part of the implementation of this Child Safeguarding Policy and Code of Conduct, Management is responsible for allocating resources to develop the capacity of all individuals within Arigatou International who work for and with children, including volunteers and GNRC members, in order to prevent, detect, report, and respond to concerns regarding the safety and protection of children.

Arigatou International is committed to designing and delivering programmes that are safe for children. The written permission of both parents/legal guardians, as well as the child, must be obtained before participation in any Arigatou International activities or programmes (Appendix 3). Risks should be identified and minimised from the development to the implementation stage of programmes and activities.

Risk mitigation strategies will be developed to minimize any risks to children and will be incorporated into the design, delivery, and evaluation of programmes, operations, and activities that involve or impact children.

POLICY BREACH

In the case of a breach or alleged breach of this Child Safeguarding Policy and Code of Conduct, Management will take administrative and legal action against any potential offender.

Should an alleged child abuse situation arise, Arigatou International will conduct an investigation and, if confirmed, may decide to withdraw funding and/or report the situation to the relevant authorities, in addition to any administrative action deemed appropriate by Senior Management.

INAPPROPRIATE USE OF SOCIAL MEDIA, IMAGES AND MESSAGES

It is absolutely forbidden to use any form of social media to access child sexual exploitation sites or any other inappropriate and denigrating site.

All necessary steps will be taken to protect children from the misuse of their name, images, messages, and stories in publications, interaction with the media, and online.

When taking pictures or videos of children and young people associated with Arigatou International and its initiatives, always use the Arigatou International Media guidelines (Appendix 4), including requesting permission from their legal guardian and informing both the child and their legal guardian of the intended use and purpose of the images.

- Make sure that the images are respectful and do not negatively impact the child's dignity and/or privacy.
